COURT ORDER MAKES MAYOR DICTATOR OF SALOONS OF CHICAGO

(Special to the Republican.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—When the Supreme Court of Illinois handed down its decision yesterday practically abolishing 5,000 saloons in Chicago, there was great rejoicing among the anti-saloon forces. Their investigation of the order, however, changes this exultation to dubious fear that such harm has been done. It is said the number of saloons will not be diminished. This was announced tonight by members of the city council who represent the saloon element. They are forming a new ordinance to be hurried through tomorrow afternoon providing that all saloons now in existence shall continue.

Another feature of the Supreme Court order is the tremendous political power it places in the hands of the mayor. Under the new order, no saloon can be licensed, and applicants must take what they get in the order of their application. This means that the mayor, for every license to be issued, the mayor can issue them to his friends and withhold the privilege from his opponents.

NEW ADVANCES INTO TURKISH TERRITORY BY BALKAN ALLIES

Powers Discuss Scheme For Depriving Sultan of All Land Except District Around Constantinople; Kiamil May Become Grand Vizier

SOFIA, Oct. 27.—The Bulgarians today occupied the Turkish town of Iztup in Macedonia, which lies fifty-five miles southeast of Uskup. It is said the Turks evacuated Iztup without offering the slightest resistance. After a battle near Kotehin, fourteen miles to the north, the Bulgarians were completely disorganized and left a large quantity of rifles and stores along the road between the two towns.

Iztup is known as the Adriatic point of Macedonia. It occupies a strong central position in the mountains.

The Bulgarians have captured Eski Baba, an important point between Adrianople and Constantinople, and taken the town of Pahnaki.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—A brief Sofia dispatch tonight announced what may prove to be the most important move of the Bulgarian army so far—the capture of Eski Baba, an important position on the main line between Adrianople and Constantinople. The dispatch omits saying whether the Bulgarians are in actual possession of the railway station. If they are, they have cut the communications between Constantinople and Sofia.

The Bulgarian plan of campaign, according to the well-informed correspondent at the headquarters of the Bulgarian army, will be the complete destruction of all the Turkish forces along the Maritza river and their retreat across the Balkan range. He describes a general offensive being made on a broad front, the right flank along a line from Yeniköy to Eski Baba, the western column to Iztup, with the central column already in the vicinity of Kavalik.

The eastern wing is effecting a great turning movement by way of Rundihsar, Viza and Sord, toward the road from Luleburgaz to Chirak. TO CUT OFF TURKS.

The correspondent says there are still large forces of Turks north of the railway line, with others at Eski Baba and Iztup. Detachments of Bulgarian forces have been dispatched in the direction of these places and in the direction of the coast. The intention is to cut the Turkish army off from the capital and force it towards the sea, and there compel it to capitulate. He describes the attack on Constantinople as making excellent progress and predicts its successful conclusion within a week.

Bulgarian columns from the Arda valley have occupied Salihlihar and Emirli. Another report announces the occupation of Paschali.

Nazim Pasha, the Turkish minister of war and commander in chief has reached Iztup at midnight. He is preparing to take the offensive and the cabinet has decided to prosecute the war with the utmost energy and prepare for a winter campaign should the present operations result unfavorably for the Ottoman army.

EVERYWHERE RETREATING.

There is no indication where the Turks will make a stand. They are everywhere falling back before the victorious allies.

They evacuated the town of Iztup in Macedonia, without resistance, at the approach of the Bulgarians.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—It is rumored that Kiamil Pasha will be summoned to Constantinople to the Daily Telegraph. An extraordinary grand council at the palace yesterday was attended by senators, religious dignitaries and military officers. The military situation was discussed five hours and it was decided to resist the idea of intervention by the powers and to continue to prosecute the war with the utmost vigor.

Night attacks were made on the large forts and carried on by ancient methods, much as the walls of towers were assaulted in olden times, hand grenades playing a great part in the cruel and merciless strife. Turkish artillery cut furrows in the mass of Bulgarians but the furrows were immediately filled and the advance was continued. The forts were without searchlights and in the dark and rainy nights this circumstance favored the approach of the Bulgarians.

USE AEROPLANE.

How a Bulgarian aeroplane detected a Turkish commander bringing a whole division from Adrianople in the direction of Kirk Kilissas is described in the correspondence. The Bulgarians intercepted and ambushed the Turks, who were cut up and dispersed, leaving their artillery behind them. It was brand new artillery and the Bulgarian gunners took it on to join the baggage train.

The correspondent concludes with the statement that the garrison of Kirk Kilissas consisted of 40,000 men. The Bulgarian valor and dash, he adds, is not sufficient to carry the garrison off to attempt to cut its way out. It must have been partly due to demoralization and disorder among the Turks and complete unpreparedness.

HUMAN BATTLES RAM.

The Telegraph's writer, correspondent, describing the capture of Kirk Kilissas, says the Bulgarians conquered by the impetus of masses.

It was not a hurricane of steel, lead and fire that broke down the Turkish human battalions, but the capture of the Bulgarians did not possess a single siege gun, which to oppose Turkey's big artillery. Among the greatest difficulties the attacking army had to overcome was the lack of roads. It was necessary to descend by paths which the bad weather rendered almost impracticable and the artillery was advanced by the aid of hundreds of troops.

ON BREA AND WATER.

Four divisions under General Dimitrieff, one of the most accomplished and daring commanders in Europe, formed a sort of immense flying column. Everyone carried rations to last for several days and an extra supply of ammunition. It was imperative to conquer quickly, for it was impossible to turn back once the struggle began. The Bulgarians lived on bread and water.

The attack was violent and unrelenting, the bayonet being used on all.

SURGEONS CUT INTO PATIENT WHILE HE WATCHES OPERATION

(Special to the Republican.)

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 27.—H. R. Dunlop, president of the Vale Trading Company, at Vale, Ore., laid on the operating table at the Good Samaritan hospital for an hour, and with only a slight numb pain watched a surgeon cut four inches into his vital to relieve an abnormal condition and then sew him up again.

"It didn't hurt so much," said Mr. Dunlop today, "but it made me nervous."

Dunlop was operated on for trouble with which he has been afflicted since childhood. The operation was accomplished with the use of local anesthetics only.

It was performed by Dr. F. M. Scott, who followed the system being developed by Dr. T. D. Bell of Philadelphia. This is said to have been the first operation of its kind ever attempted in the Northwest.

Two middle abdominal incisions, each five inches long, were made in an oval shape.

"Most of the pain came," said Mr. Dunlop, "after it was all over and the surgeon was sewing the wound together. I was able to watch the proceedings and talk all the time."

Dunlop has a horror of the usual anesthetics. He prevailed upon the surgeon to undertake the operation according to the more modern ideas of practice.

AUTOISTS DROWN IN THE DELAWARE

Four Are Thrown From Raft in Crossing From New Jersey

BELEVILLE, N. J., Oct. 27.—Four members of an automobile party bound for Shamone, Pa., from their home in Noble, Pa., were drowned today in the Delaware river while being ferried across from Delaware, Pa., to the shore of New Jersey.

The party, which consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Leon H. Gilbert, Mrs. H. W. Trump, and Miss Rebecca Tyson, Mrs. H. W. Trump, Leon Gilbert Jr., 7 years of age.

There were eight members in the party in two automobiles. In one machine was Leon H. Gilbert, his wife, his daughter Miriam, and son Leon Jr. In the other automobile were Mrs. W. Trump, Miss Tyson and Nathan Trump.

The party "motored" up through New Jersey and arriving at Delaware, drove the machine on the flat bottom boat used as a ferry at that point. When the middle of the stream was reached, the boat was struck by a log, which caused it to capsize. The four people were thrown from the raft. Leon Gilbert and H. W. Trump were thrown into the water and swam to the Pennsylvania shore, while Miss Gilbert and Nathan Trump jumped on the raft and managed to wade to the New Jersey shore when the raft swung that way. The others clung to the machine and when the ferryman lost control of the windlass which propelled the boat, were thrown into deep water.

AMERICANS START IN BALLOON RACE

STUTTGART, Germany, Oct. 27.—An hour before the hour set for the international balloon race for the Gordon Bennett cup, the balloon Kansas City II exploded while being filled. No one was injured although the pilot, John Watts, was standing on the basket at the time of the explosion has not been learned.

The French entries protested against Broekmann who had been named in place of Lieutenant Gerike who was killed in a balloon accident a few days ago. The protest was allowed and Broekmann's balloon Dusseldorf was placed at the disposal of Watts for an attempt at a record. He was not permitted, however, to contest for the cup.

Germany and the United States, therefore, were each represented by only two contestants, the latter country by John Berry, "Million Population" and H. E. Hunsell "Uncle Sam."

Belgium and Italy also have two entries, France, Austria and Switzerland, three each, and England and Denmark, one.

The race began in the presence of the king and queen under favorable conditions. If there is no change in the upper air currents, the balloons should be in the vicinity of Cologne tomorrow afternoon. From there they will head toward Maastricht where they may possibly meet with storm weather.

CONSTANTINOPLE, OCT. 27.—

Reports of skirmishing on the right wing of the Bulgarian army around Adrianople are still developing the Turkish movement. A dispatch from that city says the commander of the Turkish forces has issued a proclamation declaring that the troops of the garrison has heroically accomplished the mission required of them and have withdrawn to the fortifications which they are prepared to defend with the courage demonstrated by their fathers at Plevia.

According to information emanating from reliable sources, the sultan has expressed a desire to accompany the army and inspire the troops by his presence. At an extraordinary council held at the palace all the leading statesmen advised the sultan to relinquish the plan.

Eighty per cent of the officers who participated in the fighting on October 22 and 23, were killed or wounded. The Turkish eastern army is stretched out between Viza and Adrianople and is trying to check the advance of the Bulgarians.

No dispatches were received today regarding the position of the western army, telegraphic communication with Saloniki having been cut off.

An official dispatch from Adrianople yesterday says there was no fighting in that neighborhood on the previous night or that day.

MOVING PICTURE SHOW INSTEAD OF SALOONS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The cause of temperance has found a new ally in the moving picture show. Members of the District of Columbia executive board are inclined to believe that the picture show is a better business. It is said a number of proprietors place the blame on the moving picture show, saying the head of poorer families, instead of dropping into the corner saloon after dinner takes his wife and children to a five-cent theater.

STRONG EFFORTS MADE TO SAVE GENERAL DIAZ

Madero Will Execute Insurgent Leader to Avoid Show of Weakness

FEELING AT CAPITAL

Troops Are Being Sent Back to Torreon and Against Zapala

VERA CRUZ, Oct. 27.—General Felix Diaz, leader of the recent revolution here, and Major Zetia, Gen. Antonio Magoni and Lieut. Lima, officers under Diaz in his attempt to overthrow the government, today were condemned to death by court martial.

Lieutenant Camacho, Captain Meyer of the rural guard, and Captain Hernandez, were sentenced to two years' imprisonment. Nine other officers and civilians were allowed to go free.

The court martial, which was presided over by General Diaz, set in secret session from 2 o'clock Saturday morning until 2:15 o'clock Sunday morning. The sentences caused a sensation. A great crowd, including relatives and many friends of the accused, gathered outside the building where the court martial was held and waited for hours for the findings.

General Diaz refused to acknowledge the orders of his superior officers to suspend sentence pending further investigation. A writ of habeas corpus was granted, however, and suspended the execution.

The proceedings of the military court have been criticized generally as being very deficient. Public opinion has been strongly against a military trial for General Diaz. It is asserted that the prisoners had an adequate defense, and that the court martial had been made so far as to why the federal troops entered the city with white flags flying and the greeting, "Long live Diaz."

Felix Diaz, leader of the revolution recently inaugurated in Vera Cruz, and three of his co-leaders, have been sentenced to death by the court martial before which they were tried in that city.

Efforts to save their lives, especially that of Diaz continue unabated. Prominent women, men high in active offices and congress and army and navy men have appealed to President Madero for clemency but to all he has given the same negative answer.

To a group of women he indicated that to show clemency would be construed by the world as indicating weakness.

The popular voice of protest has grown strong against the execution of Diaz and there has arisen between the President and Senate a sharp discord, and as individuals the senators have seriously discussed the question of impeachment because of the administration's defiance of the Senate's interpretation of this step is not considered probable for many reasons, one of them being the question of succession.

An incident showing the popular attitude at Chihuahua occurred recently when pleas for the lives of the men convicted of complicity in the Diaz movement were made to Madero's government but were refused, and the officers were brutally insulted.

TECHUCATAN UPRISING.

General Aguilera continues his campaign in the region of Techucatan where his followers have entered a number of towns and taken away supplies.

There is a fear of an advance on the capital by the rebels, because it is well known they have not sufficient ammunition to conduct a systematic warfare. The persistence of these rebels, however, makes it practically certain that the Diaz campaign, the government is sending the troops back to other disturbed sections especially that about Torreon and in the state of Mexico where the rebels lately have burned the rail stations between Toluca and Mexico.

A dispatch from Vera Cruz to the Herald says the court martial sentenced to death General Diaz, Colonel Magoni, Major Serate and Lieut. Salas. Other officers on trial were sentenced to terms of imprisonment as follows:

Ten years, Capt. Hermilio Martinez, Lieut. Camacho and Lieut. Mallon; two years, Gabriel Ramos, administrator of the customs house, and Herman O. Arastegui, who was the Diaz press censor.

The execution of sentences has been suspended pending the finding of the jurisdiction and the command have been placed at the disposition of the military commander of the city.

MARTIAL LAW ON BORDER.

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 27.—A condition bordering on martial law exists today here and at other points on the Mexican border.

General E. Z. Slocum, who came from Fort Bliss, Texas, directs the troops along the border, and is said to have more stringent orders from Washington than ever during the last two years of revolution.

While unconvinced officially, it was learned on reliable authority that the military forces for offenses previously handled by the secret service and tried in federal courts. Also it was expected that any movement to arm expeditions on American soil for the purpose of entering Mexico to assist the rebels probably will result in an open declaration of martial law over the border along the international line between Los Angeles, Cal., and El Paso, Texas.

LETTERS TO CONNECT RYAN WITH EXPLOSION

Trial at Indianapolis Now Approaches Story of McManigal

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 27.—With the identification of almost 200 exhibits out of the way, the jury in the dynamite conspiracy trial, when testimony is resumed tomorrow, will face the prospect of soon hearing important evidence summoned by the government from points scattered from Los Angeles to Boston.

So far the proceedings have been considered preliminary, but when Martin J. Hyland, chief of police of Indianapolis, completes his story of the incidents attending the explosion of J. J. McManigal's apartment, and the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers in Indianapolis, April 22, 1911, the government will be ready to present great bundles of letters. These letters were taken from the iron workers' headquarters after McManigal's arrest, and it is charged they contain evidence that Frank M. Ryan, president of the union, and other defendants corresponded about dynamite explosions.

After the reading of the letters, Orville B. McManigal, accomplice of the McManigal brothers, who were charged with the explosion, is to be tried.

McManigal probably will be several days in relating his confession, covering the period when he began using explosives as a workman in his father's stone quarry to the blowing up of the Lovelllyn from works in Los Angeles.

MURDERED WOMAN GOVERNMENT SPY

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—Jennie Cavigher, the woman murdered in Bridgeport, Conn., a government spy, and who was slain in revenge for her disclosures and to prevent more of them, according to statements here today by a federal official.

The woman's real name was Rose Roze. It was declared. She had been a resident of Chicago's vice district, and was furnished by the government information concerning a society of men and women organized to import girls from Europe.

She informed against Demetrio Manzano, under arrest in New York, and was condemned to death in a meeting of white brigades. Her name was changed to Jennie Cavigher, and she was sent to Bridgeport where she went after she had testified.

much of his time in recent election campaign, his message to Congress and dealing with problems that have arisen since he left for Beverly.

The President has not kept in close touch with political developments in the last few weeks but it is known that he is keeping up to date and that he takes an optimistic view of the election.

From now on, while he does not expect to get into the campaign actively he will keep a finger on the political pulse. The President began to get in touch with department affairs almost as soon as he stepped into the White House.

White House leaves at noon Tuesday for New York to be present at the launching Wednesday of the dreadnaught New York.

The President will vote in his old home town in Cincinnati. He probably will leave Washington November 4, and his last day will be in New York.

ROOSEVELT GRATEFUL.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—A general statement in behalf of Colonel Roosevelt expressing his gratitude to persons whose letters or telegrams in reference to the attack upon him in Milwaukee today from Progressive National headquarters. It states:

"Colonel Roosevelt wishes to take this method of expressing his very deep appreciation of the multitude of letters and telegrams he has received since the shooting. The number was so very large, many thousands all told, that it was a physical impossibility for him even to attempt to acknowledge each individually, and while the endeavor has been made to have some answer sent to each, yet in the confusion it is probable that some telegrams and letters have been mislaid or that the addresses of the senders have not been found."

"Life trustee that in any case where this happened the sender will pardon the failure to answer in view of the circumstances set forth above. He again wishes to state how grateful he is for all these expressions of good will."

PAINTING OF BILL MOORE

The still came from a woman whose name is not known to the colored or his family. The woman, about 60 years of age, dressed in black, with a large bundle under her arm, stopped from the noon train and inquired the way to Sacramento Hill. She walked the three miles through the hills along the shore of the bay and up the hill. When she came to the door in answer to her knock, she gave him the bundle.

"I didn't come to see him," she said. "I have come from Boston to give him this present on his forty-fourth birthday."

With that she turned away and started down the hill. "Jim" opened the bundle and saw that it was a small oil painting. He carried it to the colonel.

The woman was seen as she trudged back to the station to take the train to New York. She refused to give her name or any information about herself except that she was from Boston.

"It is nothing," she said, "I just came from Boston to leave the painting for Colonel Roosevelt, whom I admire very greatly. Now I am going back to Boston."

WOUND IS HEALING

Continued improvement in Colonel Roosevelt's condition was reported by his physicians. They tested this bulletin.

Colonel Roosevelt's wound shows marked progress in healing. There is no reasonable doubt that he will speak on Wednesday night. There is some edema of the chest muscles which makes it necessary to forbid him shaking hands. Colonel Roosevelt will remain in bed until he is able to get up.

Dr. Lambert explained that the term "edema" was meant to indicate the swelling of the chest muscles.

The physician said it was out of the question for him to speak in Brooklyn on Saturday night as has been urged by Progressives.

TO STAY AT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—President Taft returned today to Washington after an absence of nearly two months. With the exception of engagements in New York and Newark and one in Cincinnati the President has nothing in prospect to take him away from the capital.

SAYS ROSE WAS HIS STOOGE PIGEON

Becker Tells What He Might Have Told on the Stand

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The story that Charles Becker, the former police lieutenant, convicted of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, says he wanted to tell on the stand at his trial was related in detail today by Becker from his cell in the Tombs. He has been allowed to tell his story, he claims, the verdict of the jury would have been different.

Becker denied that "Bald Jack" Rose, who was the chief witness for the state, had been his "collector," declaring Rose was his "stool pigeon," who furnished evidence on which he made scores of raids. He gave an account of his financial life in effort, he said, to show that he had not hoarded gamblers' loot.

Becker said Rose never asked him for money for his services. Eventually he learned why, when Rose told him that he and Rosenthal were going into gambling partnership, Rose requesting the lieutenant of the free services he had given and asking immunity from jail.

Becker said I would not molest the place any more than I would any other gambling house," said Becker. "I said I would not make special effort to get evidence against Rosenthal unless specifically directed."

Later Becker continued, Rose told him that Rosenthal had broken faith with him and had won $5000 from him at gambling. Those complaints against the resort began to come to Commissioner Wabbe.

Becker said these complaints were written by Rose, or inspired by him," said Becker, and he declared that this break between the partners was the beginning of Rose's enmity against Rosenthal, which finally led to Rosenthal's determination to "squash" Becker.

Becker said Rose telephoned him just after Rosenthal's murder to inform him of the fact. He said that if he got another trial he would take the stand.

He explained in detail the sources of his bank account, admitting a sentence of death to be imposed on Wednesday, Justice Claff, who will announce the ex-lieutenant's fate is under guard. District Attorney Whitman is also under guard. Becker's counsel, McIntyre, is said to be going about armed. The lives of all have been threatened, it is reported, and even the jury

MRS. CLARK-TANNER SEIZES HER CHILD

Forces Way Into Clark Home to Get Possession of Infant

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—Mrs. Virginia McDowell Clark-Tanner took forcible possession tonight of her infant son, J. Ross Clark II, whose legal custody had been granted her yesterday by Judge Robert Clark, but whose actual custody was denied by the grandfather, J. Ross Clark, vice-president of the Salt Lake Railroad.

A dramatic scene was enacted at the Clark home tonight when the young mother appeared accompanied by two attorneys and two deputy sheriffs and armed with a hastily drafted order by Judge Philayson, giving her immediate possession of the child. Several times during the day Mrs. Tanner had gone to the Clark home and demanded the child in accordance with yesterday's court order and each time was refused. Mr. and Mrs. Clark and their attorneys, content that the court order had given technical custody of the child to Mrs. Margaret Heffron, the nurse, and that Mrs. Heffron had become suddenly ill and could not be removed without endangering her life, the child would have to remain there.

Mrs. Tanner and her attorneys then searched the city for Judge Clark. That Jurist had returned to Ventura and Judge Philayson was appealed to. He immediately gave an order to Sheriff Hammel to secure the boy and deliver him to Mrs. Clark home.

Becker said the party until the order was shown and a locked door to the nursery barred the way after they had entered the house. The officers demanded that the door be opened and they would break it down and when it swung open Mrs. Tanner rushed in and grabbed the sleeping child from its cradle. Despite the protests of the grandparents and their attorneys, the Tanner party returned with the child and the nurse, who was said to have been threatened with appendicitis, dressed herself and accompanied them.

Mrs. Tanner's lawyers declared that the illness of the nurse was assumed in order that the Clark milkmaid could possession of their grandson until they could perfect an appeal from Judge Clark's decision.

which found Becker guilty is said to be difficult to fear attack.

SOLDIERS PATROL HAVANA STREETS

All Political Meetings May Be Suspended Until After Election

HAVANA, Oct. 27.—While not actually under martial law, Havana is now under absolute military protection against disorders arising from the heated political campaign. In accordance with orders issued by General Pablo Mendiolita, who yesterday was appointed by President Gomez to take charge of all the police and military forces in the capital, the streets were patrolled today by police and mounted and foot rural guardsmen. Detachments of regular troops were stationed at strategic points.

Conferees in touch between government officials and leaders of the political parties failed to reach an agreement to suspend all political meetings, and several were held tonight.

It was reported tonight that an agreement had been reached between General Mendiolita and Alfredo Zayas to suspend all political meetings from now until the elections and that assurances have been given by the parties that they will refrain from exciting utterances in order to avoid all danger of hostile collisions on election day.

SLAVIC SUCCESS

The most of us can usually afford to be as indifferent to what is happening in Europe as to the artistic instincts of the residents of the other side of the moon. But there are so many cords of interest and knowledge binding us to the events now occurring in Turkey that it is impossible not to be stirred by the remarkable success of the Slavic arms.

For one thing, the terror of the Turk is ingrained into all of us whose ancestors have ever lived in Europe. Christian or Jew or whatever we may be, the hatred of the Saracen has come to be an almost primal instinct. If the character of the Turk had changed in the last thousand years since first he became known to Westerners, this feeling might have faded. But the same atrocity that scourged the Holy Land when the Saracens first invaded Syria, the same barbarity which marked the Ottomans in their overrunning of the Greek empire, the same religious despotism which enslaved the peoples of Southeastern Europe, the same mad lust for power which carried the Tartar arms to the gates of Vienna, the same personal viciousness which decimated the families of every subject community for the gratification of the scraggly descendants of a once warlike and vigorous people. From being the "scourge of God," the Turk has come to be the "sick man of Europe," but in his palmed decrepitude he has retained all the mad barbarities of other days.

So, in spite of the many superficial resemblances to a civilized nation, the Turkish government has continued to give cover and support to a vicious economic system, a system which every so often would have to be sustained by massacres of Christians within a stone's throw of so-called Christian governments. The recent shedding of blood of Christians at Ketchana was perhaps the last straw to the patience of the Bulgarians. To have waited longer to attack the enemy would have been worse than cowardly.

Again, we are compelled to take an interest in the war in the Balkans because of the great numbers of the peoples affected who have settled in the United States, many of them in California. Servians, Montenegrins, Bulgarians, Greeks, or whatever they may be called, they are for the most part of pure or mixed blood from that great Slavic people which have played and are playing such a strong part in the affairs of Europe and are at the present time adding greatly to the value of our American citizenship. The prospect of the establishment of a strong Slavic confederation in the southeast of Europe is promise of a distinct advance in the world of civilization.

While there is much to be said against the idea of the great powers of Europe interfering to prevent the downfall of Constantinople, it may at least be pointed out that the powers cannot afford to permit such an important point to be held by any other than a strong nation. It is to be expected now, however, with the success of the Slavic arms, that such a government may be formed as will both prevent the great powers from interfering and at the same time give them assurance of a stable government in a long disturbed region.

LOST SPELLING

Every once in a while some busy person who loves to glorify the past and disparage the present, takes pen in hand to write of "spelling as a lost art." Usually no moral is drawn; mere pessimism never has any object in view except just to be pessimistic. Occasionally it is proposed to spend more time in the schools in teaching spelling, and the re-establishment of the old-fashioned spelling march as a means of diversion is held up as an ideal.

As a matter of fact, people spell a great deal better than they should be expected to, with the illogical and cumbersome system that is imposed upon them. There are many bad spellers. It is for the pedagogue to see whether spelling is any worse now as a result of different methods adopted during the last few years in teaching, but at least we know that, taking the average of manuscripts shown now and shown a century ago, in the writings of noted men, the present shows no loss in the "art of spelling."

There is no occasion to say anything against spelling correctly, anything that is worth while doing at all, should be done well. But there are many things more worth while taught in school than such problems as whether practice should be spelled with an "s" or a "c".

Evidently Madero thinks two blades in the hand is worth two in the bush.

THEY RESPECT COURTS

They inculcate greater respect for the trial courts of law in New York than we do in California and other states. They assume, when a man is convicted, that he is convicted, and proceed to inflict upon him the punishment imposed by statute, except in giving due time for appeal from the sentence of death extension. When a man is tried before a jury of his peers, with defense of counsel, and the right to summon witnesses in his behalf, and is thereupon found guilty, he is, as far as the state is concerned, guilty and is sent to prison. He is not denied the right to appeal, but he makes his appeal from the penitentiary, where the court of justice has found that if the law and the facts in the case call for him to be.

Thus there will not be, in the case of Police Lieutenant Becker, convicted of conspiracy to kill his gambling partner because that partner threatened to "punch" on him, any such farcical distortion of justice as we have had in California, where we establish courts for the accomplishment of equity, and then fail to pay them the small respect of obeying their decrees until such time as an appellate court shall have interposed its veto on the proceedings.

USING THE SCHOOLS

The cause for criticism found by the advocates of San Francisco enlargement, who object to the effort of the Oakland people to oppose the constitutional amendment through the public schools is but an extreme example of a general tendency to "use" the schools for various purposes that must not only be deplored but actively opposed if the usefulness of the public school system is not to be seriously undermined.

The fact that the public schools are established and maintained by citizens requires that they should be used only to instruct in citizenship. Special issues, novel ideals, notions of right and wrong which are not generally accepted, mannerisms which are current in only one class or division of citizens, have no place in the curriculum, and the teacher or superintendent who orders or permits the imparting of such special instruction should be severely condemned.

It looks as though the Turks are going to lose in the world's series, through bad fielding, but a batting rally in the ninth may pull them through yet.

WHAT MAKES WRITERS PROGRESSIVES

By Jesse Lynch Williams

"What are we coming to, when even the intelligent classes take an interest in 'politics'?" as a fine fat patriot of the old school remarked the other day. Well, it does look alarming. Harvard, Yale and Princeton, our three oldest and most conservative universities, are supplying the three principal parties with presidential candidates. Other "prominent alumni" of other colleges are running for many other offices. And the rest are fighting for or against them. In short, educated men all over the country are becoming fully as excited over the fall campaign as the baseball series. Not to speak of their wives and even their mothers.

Think of the influence all this is bound to have upon the home and the rising generation! The chances of preserving the traditional indifference of our so-called "best people" are growing worse every day. If we aren't to place of a "moral destiny" to talk about on the Fourth of July.

Even the writers have awakened. Not merely the muckrakers; some of them have had a vision for years; helped to give it to the rest of the country, hence, it seems almost shocking in America, dramatists, essayists and purveyors of pleasant fiction are opening their eyes to facts of gregarious existence which may not always be "pleasant," but are more interesting and important than anything they ever invented. Artists and architects are also beginning to see the light. All America is awakening.

Take the Cornish colony in New Hampshire as a case in point. It is made up of men and women who could hardly be called "high-brow." That is, they know more than most people and are not ashamed of it. This summer, however, instead of talking about Maxfield Parrish's new paintings, or the placing of St. Gaudens's last statue, they were all, men and women, if not almost exclusively the women, talking politics from lunch to bed-time, even to the neglect of tennis. Another striking thing about it was that with the exception of two or three older members of the colony they were all out-and-out Bull Mooseers.

For that matter, the majority of all Americans in arts and letters are rapidly going over to the new party—always excepting, of course, those who are too old to receive new ideas. At any rate, it is safe to make that generalization about the majority of my own profession. Some of them are running for office, like Winston Churchill, Progressive candidate for governor of New Hampshire. Others have declined nominations and are campaigning for fellow Progressives, like William Allen White, of Kansas.

Others are doing neither, but are working for the cause in the only way they have learned how to work. One man has temporarily given up all his time to it and is now doing day and night shifts free of charge, in the Publicity Department of the National Headquarters. (And when a writer, gentle reader, gives all his time it means all his earnings. There is no partner to look after his business in his absence, no salary that "goes on just the same." When an author shuts his desk his whole plant is shut down.)

I have recently seen a list of no less than thirty-five other writers of national, many of them international, repute who, because of their belief in the new party, have offered their pens in its behalf.

Not just because they are doing it gratis (including those who can get five hundred or a thousand dollars apiece for their short stories, and also those who cannot and are therefore the more generous of the two). The significant, the unprecedented feature of all this, is that how ignorant and impractical this existing is. It's like stealing candy from a child to rope them into the Bull Moose bunch.

THE SPIRITS OF THE OLD MASTERS ARE AT WORK.

But of course the great trouble with the new party is that its followers have no sense of humor, as I was reliably informed by a college professor who had just read up on humor in the library and therefore knew all about it. In fact, he told me himself he had a sense of humor.

Yes, that explains it all. Now we know why we have with us such writers as Franklin P. Adams, Inez Haynes Gillmore, Rex Weston Taylor, Edna Ferber and George Fitch.

TWO YEARS' OPTION ON SAN FRANCISCO CALL
 Failure of Paper Under Spreckels Management to Cause a Change

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 27.—The San Francisco Call, discredited as a newspaper and a failure as a business venture, has been placed under option for two years to Will W. Chapin, formerly of this city and recently part owner of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. Chapin will take control of the paper as publisher and general manager on November 1, when C. W. Hornick, who has been general manager of the Call, will be given a permanent leave of absence.

Chapin has unusual business ability which he displayed when a member of the firm of Miller, Chapin & Wright of Sacramento and its successor, the Post-Intelligencer. He has already let it be known that there will be some radical changes in the conduct of the paper.

The Call in 1909 had a daily circulation of 62,000. In the last three years under the management of Hornick the paper's circulation had dropped until it is only 38,000 and the slump is still in evidence.

In 1909 the Call, which was under lease and not controlled in its policy by John D. Spreckels, was rated as a clean newspaper and it was estimated that it had the largest circulation of any paper in San Francisco and the entire city by all who believed in civic decency, and in an honest administration of the state's business.

While the Call maintained its attitude of independence its circulation steadily increased until it reached 62,000 daily and its influence on the paper was second to none in California.

In 1909 the lease ran out and the paper reverted to John D. Spreckels. Since that time it has been controlled by him and managed by C. W. Hornick. Immediately after the lease expired the policy of the paper was switched from a support of decency in government to advocacy of reactionary policies.

In 1910 the Call under the guise of impartiality supported Curry for governor and actively aided him in the fall campaign of 1910 the Call half-heartedly supported Johnson, but immediately after the governor's inauguration attempted to coerce him into supporting John D. Spreckels' candidate for United States senator, A. C. Spaulding. Johnson refused and earned the bitter hatred of Spreckels.

From that time on, the Call became the private organ of John D. Spreckels to be used for the purpose of wrecking the Johnson administration. At first the paper indulged in hysterical attacks upon the governor. Subsequently, enraged by Johnson's unprecedented success as chief executive, Hornick caused the publication of every fake that could be worked up about Johnson and his administration. Stories without a shadow of foundation were published as truth, the fake sensation about the Napa hospital being the culmination.

After tolerating the abuse and lies of the Call for eighteen months, Governor Johnson denounced the paper, John D. Spreckels, and Hornick, showing up the character of the attacks. Thousands of subscribers stopped the paper, almost one half of the circulation falling away.

Dr. Pierce's FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION

Give it a fair trial for banishing those distressing pains or drains on one's vitality. This prescription of Dr. Pierce's regulates all the womanly functions. It eradicates and destroys "Female Complaints" and weaknesses that make women miserable and old before their time. Every girl needs it before womanhood. Every mother needs it. It is an invigorating tonic for the female system. All medicine dealers have sold it with satisfaction, to customers for the past 40 years. It is now obtainable in liquid or tablet form at drug stores—or send 50 one-cent stamps for trial box, to R. V. Pierce, Buffalo.

WHY W. PARKER LYON IS A WINNER

I own so much property in Fresno that some people wonder how I got it. I am accused of being the Original Mr. Terma and other folks have said that I was a former sweetheart of Lydia E. Pinkham and the old girl retired me on a pension of $50,000 a year. I deny these statements emphatically. I began business in Fresno 25 years ago, when Fresno was a small burg the size of Selma. I entered the Furniture Arena with a bunch of Buggy Whips, two refrigerators, a pair of leather pillows and a What-knot. Every one knows what I have accomplished since. My motto has always been Quick Sales and Small Profits and I accumulated my fortune by doing a large volume of business, keen buying, and selling on small margins. If I had upheld prices like many other concerns, with my popularity, I would have retired in 5 years after starting. Call it Luck, Pluck or Push, I am doing and have done the business. Why, by giving you your money's worth. I have been so successful that my friends are saying, I could start a Livery Stable on Goat Island and find patrons. Come and see me when you are down town. I'll await your coming.

REPUBLICAN COOKING SCHOOL OPENS THIS AFTERNOON AT ARMORY HALL

Cooking Is Fine Art and Every Woman Should Be Proficient in Its Practice

MRS. ARMSTRONG CONSENTS TO SPECIAL FEATURES FOR REPUBLICAN COOKING COURSE

On Mrs. Armstrong's arrival in Fresno yesterday, one of the first topics of discussion was raisins. She heartily consented to make Wednesday "Raisin Day" at the Cooking School, and will feature raisins in all the dishes possible.

Paper bag cooking will also be a feature of one day of the course. The exact date will be announced later.

On the closing day of the course, a special program is being arranged for the men as well as the ladies.

At 1:30 this afternoon Armory Hall will be opened to throngs of Fresno ladies who are anxious to become better educated in the art of cooking. Mrs. Helen Armstrong, who will be the demonstrator at the Republican Cooking School, is the most celebrated in her line in the United States. The Republican is very glad that it has the opportunity of conducting this cooking course. It will be instructive, entertaining and interesting and it is hoped that all the ladies of Fresno and vicinity will be in attendance every day.

The hall will open at 1:30 p. m., and to be certain of a seat it is requested that all be there as early as possible. The musical program starts at 8 p. m. It is also asked that no babies or very young children be brought to the school.

Domestic Science is one of the most important studies of the curriculum of modern schools, and the results being achieved in this line will have an important effect on the future. Cooking is an accomplishment which finds its ablest exponents in women, because this branch of household economics has generally been the peculiar province of the fair sex. Most women cook—some well, some indifferently, but a large number of women do not know how to cook at all. Cooking has really grown into a fine art and every woman ought to be proficient in its practice. Originally and ingeniously in preparing dishes distinguish the good cook from the mediocre kind, and the woman who can prepare meals which evoke the admiration of all fortunate to partake of them is the object of envy from her more unfortunate kind.

Every housekeeper in the city should arrange to attend the Republican Cooking School. Every young woman ought to make an special effort to be present, as it is among the young that the greatest lack of cooking knowledge is found. Many young ladies are devoid of any practical ideas which would fit them for presiding over a household with the same degree of skill possessed by their mothers. The trouble is that they have been too attentive to other things to bother about the handling of things from the kitchen end of the home. Every young woman ought to have a working knowledge of cooking, and if she has not, should by all means change her ideas and absorb some of this knowledge. Attendance at the lectures by Mrs. Armstrong will arouse interest which will be productive of good, and the young lady who now possesses about every accomplishment but that of cooking will soon add that to her list.

The visit of Mrs. Armstrong will arouse almost as much interest among the men as it does among the women. And why shouldn't it? The women do the cooking, but the men do most of the eating. Therefore the men are interested in whatever has a tendency to improve cooking—and these lessons are going to improve cooking by a great deal. Young men ought to be especially interested in the cooking school, not because they want to be cooks, but because they may be particularly fond of some young lady who may or may not be able to cook. It wouldn't be a bad idea for every young man to impress upon one young lady the desirability of visiting the Republican Cooking School under the direction of Mrs. Armstrong. And to all the men of Fresno a special invitation is issued for Saturday. A special program is being prepared for the men and an interesting afternoon is assured.

WHY HAS NOT WILSON ATTACKED TRUSTS?

No Movement Against Corporations Legalized By New Jersey Laws

Woodrow Wilson, in making his campaign throughout the country, has frequently taken occasion to denounce Theodore Roosevelt and the Progressive party on the stand of the Progressive leader, as well as his platform with regard to the trusts. The Progressive party proposes a firm and comprehensive regulation of the trusts under federal governmental direction.

Mr. Wilson declares that he would not regulate the trusts, but would abolish them. He professes that he is unable to consider the trusts, save with abhorrence. Let us see.

The trust laws of New Jersey are notoriously the most lax in the United States. As a result thereof nearly all the big trusts take out their charters in that state.

Nevertheless, there is one clause in the New Jersey law, which would allow the state administration, through the legislature, to put any of the trusts out of business. Woodrow Wilson is governor of New Jersey. Why does he not invoke this law?

Governor Johnson recently exposed the unbecoming and insincerity of Wilson's expressions on this subject.

Governor Wilson replied that the reason he had not attacked the trusts was because of the Republicans in the legislature. The fact is that in Wilson's first term he had a heavy Democratic majority in the New Jersey Assembly, while the Senate of that state was evenly divided between Republicans and Democrats. If Mr. Wilson really wanted to put the trusts out of business, why couldn't he have done so with such a voting force as this in his legislature? Can anyone imagine what Hiram Johnson would have done under similar circumstances? Can anyone imagine Roosevelt, with the legislature or a Congress one house of which being absolutely in his control and the other house evenly divided, sitting supinely and doing nothing?

Following is a partial list of the trusts incorporated in and doing business in the state of New Jersey: The Woolen Trust, Sugar Trust, Tobacco Trust, Sewer Pipe Trust, Radiator Trust, Copper Trust, Can Trust, Fertilizer Trust, Lined Oil Trust, Leather Trust, Cotton Oil Trust, Cement Trust, Car Trust, Ice Trust, Ship

WEEK-END SOCIAL PORTERVILLE NEWS

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 27.—Twenty-eight of the members of the Priscilla Club met at the home of Mrs. George Willis in Park street yesterday afternoon, and enjoyed an afternoon of whist. In view of the season the decorations were suitable to Halloween as were the favors at the card tables. Refreshments of the kind associated with the fairy holidays, were served at a suitable hour. Seven tables of whist were set and the guests attended to their scores until the tea hour.

Thirty guests were present at the celebration last evening of the birthday of the Pierian Club, which was held at the suburban home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Grant in Zante. The Pierian affairs are ordinarily for the fair sex only, but on this occasion the husbands of the members were bidden, and partook of an elaborate dinner. Following dinner a social hour brought the evening to a close.

MRS. HELEN ARMSTRONG WILL LECTURE AND DEMONSTRATE

MONDAY PROGRAM

Broiled Bacon California Gems Hammy Crescents
Chocolate Pudding Cerise Sauce

Note—Printed recipe leaflets will be distributed daily to each lady in attendance.

Every woman is cordially invited to attend each session of the cooking school. These cooking demonstrations will be given on the stage by Mrs. Helen Armstrong, the popular authority on domestic science. Come early and bring your friends.

Most people are fond of sweets and there are few indeed who do not care for chocolate, but the frugal housewife frowns on expensive desserts and the busy cook objects to elaborate ones; hence the steamed chocolate pudding in today's lesson will be eagerly welcomed, as it is easy to make, requires no butter and only one egg, and is so good that it invariably receives an encore. Steaming without a steamer is also a new idea to some and produces good results in a very simple way, both for steamed breads and puddings.

The spiced game literally melt in one's mouth when rightly made. They are simpler than cakes and richer than bread, being sort of a glorified sweet muffin. Here is a recipe which "stays in the family."

Some hints on broiling form part of today's program and they prove useful to all. Everyone uses a gas range nowadays, and most people do their broiling with it, but comparatively few are really successful, simple as is the method. For years Mrs. Armstrong has made a specialty of gas cooking and she can tell you more about the workings of a gas range in ten minutes than will be found in all your cook books. If you doubt this, go to the cooking school.

Some different ideas in croquette making will be offered, too, and we think they will be gladly accepted. Nuts and cheese are now used in many ways and can be more satisfactorily served in numerous combinations, with game, particularly; the hominy and cheese croquette is a pleasant accompaniment. Such a delicious fluffy crust as these have, you couldn't guess what it is unless you were told, and it is so much daintier than crumbs, with half the bother. This recipe was prepared for the Taff banquet in Charleston, while the cooking school was in session there, and received official approval.

In both sauces and made dishes the success largely depends upon the flavor. Too many cooks are content with salt and pepper, with occasional use of onion or parsley. It is economy to invest in a complete assortment of these inexpensive aids to one's table. Food that looks good and tastes good is in a fair way to do us good. We have all seen cooks like the one who protested when instructed to "serve the fishballs for breakfast with bacon." "I'll trim the dishes for dinner," she replied, "and maybe for lunch, but I'll not do any decorating in the morning." It is like the old fashioned notion that the "best must be served for company—most anything being good enough for home folks."

The Convenience of Cooking With Gas

should be in every home. The great comforts and conveniences derived from its use have done much towards lightening the labor of housekeeping. Why not investigate it? A phone call or postal will bring a representative to you with full information.

Gas fuel is one of the greatest conveniences of the age. It is quick, clean and very economical. The woman who cooks with gas can have a hot, steady fire, any hour of the day or night at the touch of a match.

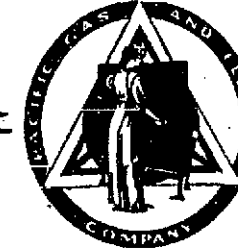

Cooking with gas eliminates old time kitchen drudgery and saves the housekeeper much time. With gas in the house there's no tedious, time-consuming getting ready for a meal; no exasperating, troublesome cleaning up after it.

Cooking with gas helps shorten women's working hours by doing all that's demanded in the shortest possible time. Thrifty women are unanimous in declaring it to be very economical. Is YOUR kitchen equipped with the facilities for cooking with gas? Are you depriving yourself of a great convenience that can be enjoyed at a small cost?

ROAST LAMB MACARONI MILANAISE
FRUIT RISsoles CAMBRIDGE PUDDING
HARVARD SAUCE CREOLE BAKED APPLES

Roast Lamb—Select firm meat, well surrounded with fat, and wipe surface with a damp cloth. Heat gas full ten minutes before using, then place meat under flame, and turn occasionally until each side is crisped. Season lightly, reduce heat and baste every fifteen minutes with the fat in the pan. Allow one and one-half hours for a five-pound roast, cooked medium. Garnish with potato balls fried in deep Cottole, bananas breaded and fried in same manner or cooked in oven with sugar, butter and lemon juice, or baked apples, Creole style. Serve mint sauce and green peas with the roast. For the brown gravy place small end bone and trimming from meat in shallow pan with three cups of cold water. Add salt, pepper, parsley, onion or bits of celery, green peppers or tomato as convenient. Let this cook slowly an hour or more, then strain, using one pint to blend with one-fourth cup each of fat and flour, strain again and add Kitchen Bouquet to season and color.

Macaroni Milanaise—Cook half package of macaroni in three quarts of salted boiling water until tender, drain well, and cover with cold water for ten minutes or more. Cook one can of tomatoes with one cup of water for fifteen minutes with a bay leaf, bit of mace, onion, cloves, parsley, salt and pepper. Strain and thicken with one-fourth cup each of butter and flour blended together, or use a small can of tomato puree. Drain macaroni again, mix with sauce, add one cupful of chopped green peppers parboiled, also cooked meat as ham, calves' liver or tongue, if for supper or luncheon, and simmer fifteen minutes or put in to baking dish, sprinkle top with grated cheese or buttered cracker crumbs and bake until brown.

Fruit Rissoles—Sift two cups of flour twice with three teaspoons of baking powder, one tablespoon of sugar and a little salt. Chop into this two tablespoons of Cottole and moisten with about half a cup of milk mixed with beaten egg yolk. Roll out almost as thin as pie crust, cut into rounds. Place well drained fruit on each round, after moistening edges with white of egg and press together. Fry in deep hot fat and serve fresh, dusted with powdered sugar.

Cambridge Pudding—Mix together one pint of flour, two and one-half teaspoons baking powder, half a teaspoon of salt and one-half cup of sugar. Sift and add two-thirds cup of milk, one well-beaten egg and three tablespoons of soft Cottole. Spread this in a shallow pan which has been greased and partly filled with sliced apples, sugar and moistened with a little water. Bake in moderately hot oven and serve warm with hard or foamy sauce or a thick hot syrup containing a little butter. A more delicate pudding, without fruit, may be made by substituting pineapple juice for milk, in smaller amount and using three eggs, beaten separately, reducing the baking powder one-half teaspoon. Bake in deep pan or individual molds and serve with hot thick pineapple syrup containing pieces of fruit and a little lemon juice, also grated rind if desired.

Harvard Sauce—Cream together two tablespoons of butter, four of Cottole and a little salt, then beat in one cup of powdered sugar and flavor with nutmeg or extract; add one tablespoon of hot water and one-fourth cup more of sugar.

Note—Use level measurements. Canned Vegetables—In using canned vegetables, open them if possible some time before the meal, rinse well with cold water such vegetables as peas, green beans, etc., and drain before heating. So treated, they will taste more like fresh vegetables than those which are served at once upon removal from the can. If milk is used in combination with vegetables, it should be heated before adding, or the mixture may curdle, and it is a great improvement to thicken it slightly with flour and butter or meat fat combined.

Wednesday's Program

BROILED STEAK DEVILED HAM FRITTERS
MOCHA CAKE WITH BURNED ALMONDS

This lesson is just full of good things. Let the darning go until the program. Be on hand if you next week. Cake making is the main feature of the day and comes on the program. Be on hand if you do not wish to lose a word. The teacher will tell just how and why certain processes are best, and the proper regulation of the gas oven (so easy when understood) will make the cake lesson complete.

Layer and Small Cakes—The thinner cakes may be baked more quickly and should also be made less stiff than loaf cake. Any cake may be made light by considerable baking powder or many eggs, but fine texture is only secured by vigorous beating. Granulated sugar is better than powdered, but should be fine and dry. A coarse, sticky sugar produces coarse, heavy cake. Flour must be sifted several times and eggs beaten very light. There is no short cut in cake baking. If to be served while fresh, we can produce light and most palatable cake without effort, but the loaf which is to be moist and luscious when several days old must be compounded with great care. Whites of eggs make a light, delicious cake, while the yolks give a tender, rich loaf; it is often economy to use both, but they should always be separately beaten.

Heat the oven full ten minutes with both burners, place layers on upper and lower shelf in center of oven and turn gas out. Ten minutes later relight one burner and complete baking. Increase heat at the last if not sufficiently brown. Twenty-five minutes is the average time that such cakes should remain in the oven. If in doubt as to whether the cake is done, however, give it a little more time. Over-baked cake dries quickly, but under-done cake is heavy, unwholesome and a reproach to the cook.

Two women were overheard yesterday discussing the cooking school, and Mrs. Gadabout said to Mrs. Homemaker: "Bring me home a set of those recipes, won't you, and maybe I'll try some. I haven't time to go this week." Her friend laughingly agreed, but added: "Of course, the recipes are all right, and they help us to make good things at reasonable cost, but to my notion they are the smallest part of the cooking school. I've listened to a good many domestic science talks and taken lots of practical cooking lessons, but never has any one given me so many valuable ideas and helpful suggestions along these lines as I am absorbing from this teacher. I can't spare the time to attend each lesson, myself, but I really can't afford to stay away."

Thursday's Program

FRIED FILLET OF TROUT NORMANDY SALAD
SAUCE TARTARE
PASTRY: FRUIT, TARTS AND NUT STICKS, LOAF CAKE

Pastry interests all cooks. Pies must be made, and well made, too, if the digestion be considered. A crisp, tender, well-baked crust is the desire of all, yet now rarely achieved. We all know those durable pies—a crust so pale in color, unyielding in consistency and sad in appearance as to be truly pathetic. Pastry-making will be shown and explained at the cooking lesson on Thursday. It is easy when you know how. Now is the chance.

Some hints on handling fruit pies and how to prevent the juices cooking out, etc., will be given in this lesson, with suggestions as to various fillings, the forms for individual tarts and methods of baking. Those who have trouble with meringue can learn the cause of their failure, and discover the secrets of success in making a thick, delicate meringue that doesn't fall or shrink or misbehave in any way the moment one's back is turned.

Normandy salad sounds intricate, but it may be as simple or elaborate as one wishes; the main idea being that all materials used are shredded or cut fine before blending. It offers many possibilities of variation to the inventive cook, and the artistic sense may be gratified in the color combinations which are possible.

Thursday you will learn how to fry fish so that it is cooked through without being greasy, with no spattering of fat or watchful turning of slices—each piece equally brown and crisp. The frying pan has no place in the kitchen, but from the kettle of deep fat come forth dainties that prove perfect frying to be an art.

Fish seems inevitable on Friday, and many are the ways in which it may be served. That it be fresh is quite important; then its wholesomeness cannot be denied. If properly cooked, it is easily digested, from whence comes the popular delusion that it is good "brain food." Foods which do not tax the digestion, drawing the blood from the brain to aid in assimilation, leave the mind clear to do its work. We cannot do our best mentally after eating a hearty meal.

With the fish comes one of our choicest sauces—tartare—and we learn how easily it is made. Indeed we have always had to pay so much for it in the restaurants that we never thought of trying it at home. Now we will have it when we please—maybe. Mrs. Armstrong teaches us the value of olive oil and why we should use it freely, with some hints on the oils from various countries and their different characteristics. She says that the taste for oil is not an invincible one, for good oil is cheaper than doctors' bills.

White loaf cake will be a revelation to many. Such perfect baking, a thin golden crust, an even, close grain, and a flavor that tastes like more. She does it with no butter, too. Think of that! While cake is under discussion, the method of making is fully given, and that is such a help, for half the success of loaf cake lies in oven relation. The beauty of it is that when once learned it can always be successfully followed. Baking is no guesswork nowadays. We have system. "Luck" in cooking is a joke. It may be a comforting consolation to know that "bad luck" rightly interpreted means "bad management" or ignorance.

DR. FURNESS ON GENTLE SHAKESPEARE

Emphasized Poet's Aristocratic Ideals and Contempt of Masses

From many causes, Horace Howard Furness knew all it is to be a gentleman, and when each year he rose as dean of the Shakespeare Society on St. George's day, to give the solitary toast, "William Shakespeare, gentleman," it was on the last word that his sturdy accent fell. Beyond all the other great voices of our tongue, Shakespeare was "gentle." The author of "Coriolanus" loathed the general mass. He scarce mentions it without touching on its evil smell, writes Talbot Williams in the November "Century." In appreciation of "Our Great Shakespeare Critic," its sweetest nightcap ever stank in his nostrils. Certain sympathies he needed for full critical appreciation of the poet who was the last word of the feudalism of the past to the democracy of the future, and these sympathies Dr. Furness had.

The Shakespeare Society first began its study. For sixty-one years its fortnightly meetings have gathered a group of men foremost in Philadelphia. One has read Shakespeare there with a cabinet minister, a cabinet member of the Bar Association, a judge of the first rank, a great physician as well known in the art of letters as in the letters of his art, and a novelist whose best seller has not had its total exceeded. It was in a like practical atmosphere that a young man not yet thirty, Dr. Furness was stirred half a century ago to try to compare texts by the aid of a scrap-book. Out of this grew the Variorum, first with the first folio for a basis and later the Cambridge text. He has leisure, a perfect gift. His early collected, until 7,000 volumes were at hand in a building for their use, but most collectors are swamped by their apparatus. "A Concordance of Shakespearean Poems," 1874, by Mrs. Furness, bespeaks a common bond in a perfect union. In 1883 she was taken. After a generation those who then saw his grief from without, will not adventure to speak of it. A sense of loss was never absent from him. It drove him to arduous labors which the years made a habit of life. Says a single volume of his father's intimate friendship with Emerson, he wrote nothing but the Variorum. His preferences, his addresses, and his letters should, now that he is gone, make a volume. He preserved the epistolary gift, lost in our day. His slightest note had style, charm and weight. Talbot Williams, in November "Century."

HEATING A FLAT IRON

When the thermometer dropped below zero, Mrs. Rogers was much disturbed by the thought that Huldah, the new kitchen maid, slept in an unheated room.

"Huldah," she said, remembering the good old custom of her girlhood, "is going to be pretty cold tonight. I think you had better take a flat iron to bed with you."

"Yes, ma'am," assented Huldah, without much enthusiasm.

Mrs. Rogers, happy in the belief that her maid was comfortable, slept soundly. In the morning she visited the kitchen.

"Well, Huldah, how did you get along with the flatiron?"

WOODMEN OF WORLD LAY CORNERSTONE FOR NEW BUILDING

Members of Manzanita Camp Hold Impressive Ceremonies on Site of New Home

Before an audience of 1500 people, with several of the highest officers of the order in California as guests, the members of Manzanita Camp No. 160, Woodmen of the World, held impressive ceremonies laying the cornerstone of the new building which is now under construction at K and Tulare streets.

City Attorney Ernest Klette welcomed the visitors on behalf of the city of Fresno and his cordial greeting was responded to in the address of the day by Peter F. Gilroy of San Francisco, deputy head consul of the Pacific Jurisdiction of the Woodmen of the World, which territory comprises nine western states.

In spite of the early morning rain and threatened showers the band of Woodmen of the World and their sister order, the Women of Woodcraft, was augmented by hundreds of interested Fresnoans who stood around piles of mixed mortar or on benches of bricks, completely overlooking the scene provided which were snatched up by the select few who arrived early in the afternoon.

A parade through the principal streets of the city preceded the exercises on the site of the hall. The marchers were led by Tilton's band followed by the head camp officers in automobiles. Manzanita Camp officers in full regalia were next in line followed by members from Hanford, Clovis, and other cities in the valley in uniform and the members of Manzanita Camp. Early in the afternoon the local lodge men met at their headquarters at A. O. U. Hall and paraded to the Hughes hotel where they met the head camp officers and visitors. The principal march was from there.

H. D. Carver of Manzanita Camp was master of ceremonies at the cornerstone laying. After a brief speech of welcome on behalf of the local camp to the visitors, Carver introduced City Attorney Klette who extended greeting on behalf of Fresno city as follows:

City Attorney Ernest Klette who delivered the address of welcome at the Woodmen Ceremonies Yesterday.

Mr. President, neighbors, and friends:—In the absence of Mayor Snow, who is on the program today to deliver an address of welcome, I have been requested to address you briefly. I feel, however, that I am but a poor substitute for Mr. Snow. Because of his long identification with this camp, he is the fit and proper person to address an address upon this occasion. He was one of the organizers, a charter member, and first Consul Commander of Manzanita Camp No. 160, Woodmen of the World, whose achievements we are here to commemorate. He is here, therefore, the earliest time to the present day, and far better qualified to speak than I. However, I shall speak to you briefly, and extend to you, one and all, a welcome in behalf of the city of Fresno.

A little more than eighteen years ago a little group of twenty-one men met in the office of Dr. J. L. Maupin, and organized this camp. It is interesting at this day to glance over the names of this group of men, to find there the names of men which have been familiar to us almost a quarter of a century. We find there the names of Samuel Jackson, Algonquin Carter, D. S. Ewing, Henry Avila, J. A. Slater, C. J. Bisbee, W. E. Nelson, F. B. Clark, C. A. Teifer.

But it remained until the year 1903 to secure the greatest membership. In that year a "Log Rolling" committee was organized under the chairmanship of that peer of Woodmen, A. E. Sunderland, and on the 18th day of April, 1903, 645 candidates were initiated into the camp at one time.

Prosperous as the camp has been from the standpoint of members, it has been equally prosperous from the standpoint of finance. A few years ago a lot was purchased by the camp on Tulare street, in this city, for a few thousand dollars, which was intended as the future home of the camp. But it increased in value in such rapid strides, and to such an enormous figure, that it was determined to purchase a home elsewhere, and sell this property. The site where we now are was then purchased, and the old site on Tulare street was sold for more than $30,000. This money is being used in the erection of our new building, the corner stone of which we are here to lay today.

It is fitting and proper that we in the laying of this corner stone should hold a fitting service, for it commemorates the achievements of the past, and marks the beginning of a new era for our camp.

In behalf of the City of Fresno, fellow Woodmen, I congratulate you upon your achievement of the past, and upon your good fortune in having the home you are here to have in the future. And I trust that the achievements of our camp in all the years, to come will be in the same ratio as they have been in the past. And to you, gentlemen, who have come from a distance to participate in our ceremonies, in behalf of the City of Fresno, I extend to you a hearty welcome.

Peter F. Gilroy of San Francisco, deputy head consul of the Woodmen was the first of the head camp officers to be called upon. After responding to the hearty welcome of Mr. Klette, Mr. Gilroy spoke in part as follows:

"This splendid hall which will rise on these grounds will be comprised of no dead stones, of no unmeaning timbers. If you look upon it, you will find that it is the joined hands of the neighbors of the Woodmen of the World. If as you enter its portals you listen with fraternal ears you will hear a sound as of a muffled drum chanted in the breathing of men's hearts. This, if you have fraternal ears.

Inside you will find as a welcome words of good cheer, words of love, words of sympathy as will echo that grand song of the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man.

"There is a great need of buildings such as this. The average individual finds himself unable to aid the weak and suffering humanity he comes in touch with. Though his heart may be willing with pity he is forced to

A Few of the Reasons Why You Should Buy a Poole Piano

"Because it is in every essential an ART product."

Because its tone represents the careful development of an artistic ideal, and is of a nature to appeal to those who appreciate quality of this standard.

Because the workmanship throughout is characterized by attention to the smallest detail. It is made by men who "know how."

Because the cases are designed by master draftsmen who know what will interest the seeker after original designs, which also follow strictly correct architectural lines, and are in keeping with various interior decorations.

Because the Poole Piano is not only distinctly a piano for the home, but also a piano of tested merit for use in schools, colleges, lodges and musical institutions. There are many other Why's, and it will be a pleasure to tell you of them when you call at my warehouses.

BANANAS IN DIABETES

Patient—E. C. Crowther, 1250 Warren Road, Cleveland, Ohio, age 54 years.

July 22nd—Patient started on Fulton's Diabetic Compound. Sugar four per cent and gangrenous sore on one foot.

August 26th—Quantity voided, declined to three and one-half pints, sugar reduced to faint trace.

September 23rd—Dr. J. R. Spencer reports complete disappearance of sugar, although patient reports during the month that he ate peaches, bananas and green corn. Weight normal. "Physical condition speaks for itself and friends remark about it."

These results can be had with Codon. We are ready to submit the physician's report in this case to hospitals and members of the profession having cases slowly declining under Codon.

DROPS DEAD WHILE DRESSING FOR CHURCH

Mrs. E. A. Porter, Wife of Selma Rancher, Dies Very Suddenly

Blood Clot on Brain Causes Paralysis of Nerves of the Heart

SELMA, Oct. 27. — While dressing for church this morning Mrs. E. A. Porter, wife of a wealthy rancher residing a mile from this city, dropped dead. Her demise was due to a blood clot formed on the brain so as to produce paralysis of the nerves governing the heart.

Mrs. Porter arose at her usual hour this morning and attended to her regular household duties. She was apparently in the best of health. Shortly before 10 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Porter began to prepare for the church services. Porter left the house and brought out his automobile beside the house, and when he returned found Mrs. Porter dressing. Apparently she had no intimation of her approaching death. The first thing she noticed was that she was unable to breathe. She placed her hands to her head, appearing to be in a faint of pain.

Porter rushed to her side, and placed her upon the bed, thinking it a temporary illness, but death resulted almost instantly. Mrs. McKnight, Porter's mother who lives nearby, and who was also going to church, came along and seeing the automobile took a seat, expecting to soon be joined by her son and his wife. Meanwhile Mrs. Larnabee, who also lives nearby, not knowing that his mother was just outside the house.

Arrangements for the funeral have not been completed, but it is likely that the body will be taken to Oregon, where Mrs. Porter was born. The inquest will be conducted Monday.

GRAPE SHIPMENTS ARE FALLING OFF

Tokay and Malaga Crops About Cleaned Up; Rain Will Not Hurt

According to the weekly market letter of the California Fruit Distributors, the grape shipments are falling off. Last week they dropped off more than 100 cars. From now on the bulk of the movement will be Cornishons and Emperors, the shipments continuing until the end of the season. The Tokay and Malaga crops are nearly picked and the rain will have no other effect than to interfere with the cleaning up of the Tokay crop. The weekly statement follows:

The following gives number of cars of deciduous fruit shipped from all points in California for the week (seven days) ending Friday evening, October 26, 1912.

Pears—Fourteen cars. The pear movement is now nearing its end. There will be very few more cars of this variety to go, with the exception of scattering lots from the Santa Clara district.

Grapes—Five hundred and five cars. Over 100 cars less moved out this week than last and the falling off will probably be even greater during the week to come. Tokays and Malagas are still going forward in considerable volume, but the crop of both varieties is nearly all picked. Cornishons and Emperors will constitute the bulk of the movement from now on, but both varieties are reported to be light.

Weather during the past week has been adverse to shipping. Light showers fell on the 23d and again on the 25th. They will have no other effect than to interfere with the cleaning up of the Tokay crop.

Comparative statement of shipments October 19:

Apples	2334	1584

GRAPE SHIPMENTS ARE FALLING OFF

Tokay and Malaga Crops About Cleaned Up; Rain Will Not Hurt

According to the weekly market letter of the California Fruit Distributors, the grape shipments are falling off. Last week they dropped off more than 100 cars. From now on the bulk of the movement will be Cornishons and Emperors, the shipments continuing until the end of the season. The Tokay and Malaga crops are nearly picked and the rain will have no other effect than to interfere with the cleaning up of the Tokay crop. The weekly statement follows:

The following gives number of cars of deciduous fruit shipped from all points in California for the week (seven days) ending Friday evening, October 26, 1912.

Pears—Fourteen cars. The pear movement is now nearing its end. There will be very few more cars of this variety to go, with the exception of scattering lots from the Santa Clara district.

Grapes—Five hundred and five cars. Over 100 cars less moved out this week than last and the falling off will probably be even greater during the week to come. Tokays and Malagas are still going forward in considerable volume, but the crop of both varieties is nearly all picked. Cornishons and Emperors will constitute the bulk of the movement from now on, but both varieties are reported to be light.

Weather during the past week has been adverse to shipping. Light showers fell on the 23d and again on the 25th. They will have no other effect than to interfere with the cleaning up of the Tokay crop.
